

SEVERE EARTHQUAKES HIT WESTERN STATES

MUSSOLINI WILLING TO TALK PEACE

Threat of Complete Sanctions Brings Offer to Talk

WAR SUMMARY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Geneva.—Italy is willing to negotiate, said a Mussolini spokesman. The League of Nations met to set a deadline for economic sanctions against Fascist Italy. Among delegates, November 15 was regarded as the likely date.

Paris.—Peace will be made, said Premier Pierre Laval as he left for Geneva.

London.—England virtually ended economic intercourse with Italy, without waiting for the League sanctions deadline. French and British military experts are working out a plan of mutual assistance in the Mediterranean.

Rome.—Italy is surveying its merchant marine to determine its naval auxiliary strength.

At The Front: Italian forces on the southern front drew up artillery to bombard Gorrabel. On the northern front, Mussolini's legions occupied the fortress of Amba Siale, on a plateau 30 miles from Makale.

BULLETIN

Rome, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Students demonstrating against Great Britain stormed stores they believed to be British-owned tonight following a morning demonstration in front of the British embassy. Shouting "Down with England!" they broke a big lamp hanging in front of a tea room on the Via Sistina and pasted a map of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on the window. The place is owned and operated by Italians but the students saw signs printed in English and thought it was a British restaurant.

A crowd of about 200 students carrying effigies of Emperor Haile Selassie then went to the "Embassy Night Club," which is operated by Americans and English, but the managers lowered the iron shutters before the students reached the place.

Police failed to arrive in time to block the demonstration.

Geneva, Oct. 31.—An Italian spokesman announced today that the warring Fascist nation was willing to negotiate for peace with Ethiopia.

The spokesman made this assertion as the League of Nations offered Italy a final interval for consideration of settlement of the East African conflict before being subjected to an economic blockade.

"Italy is willing to negotiate," he asserted in reference to the visit to Geneva of Baron Pompeo Aloisi, representative of Premier Mussolini, who is due tomorrow for the meeting of representatives of 52 nations, who are to set the date for actual enforcement of economic sanctions.

A British spokesman conceded that Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare also would be pleased to sound out the situation before application of the boycott, probably 15 days hence.

Laval Anxious Premier Pierre Laval of France was known to be particularly eager to find a quick solution to the dispute to halt the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Th general situation, however, presented the aspect of statesmen sparring for positions with reluctance to admit that any party was disposed to make important concessions.

Italian circles announced that Baron Aloisi was coming at the special request of the British and French governments. This the British denied. The Italians in turn denied that Aloisi was bringing fresh proposals considerably milder than those presented during the futile tri-power peace talks at Paris.

League leaders forecast tremendous difficulties in going far beyond the committee of five peace plan for international development of Ethiopia which Il Duce rejected.

Seek Counterbalances Any additional concessions to Mussolini, the leaders said, must be counterbalanced by other concessions to Emperor Haile Selassie.

Is Father at 94

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Journal of the American Medical Association offered for consideration today the birth of a 94-year-old Confederate veteran of the Civil War.

Without giving the veteran's name, the Journal reported the child was born a few weeks ago to his 27-year-old wife, whom he married last year.

The Journal said the father had 16 children by his first wife, married in 1872. His mother died at the age of 103.

The case was authenticated by New York physicians, the Journal said.

ROCK VALLEY'S PROGRAM READY

State Health Authorities Predict Completion by Next Year

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A prediction that the sanitation program in the entire Rock River valley "will be completed next year" was made today to the state Department of Public Health.

Clarence W. Klassen, technical secretary of the Illinois state sanitary water board, reported that progress in the anti-stream pollution project inaugurated last spring has been "so substantial" that early construction of municipal sewage treatment plants is indicated.

Klassen, who is chief sanitary engineer of the state public health department, said the project is providing work for hundreds of men "while bringing the state nearer its goal of reclaiming the streams and water ways for useful purposes."

Dixon Plans Ready

"As a result of the work done since last May," he reported, "Mt. Morris has completed the construction of a sewage treatment plant which is now in operation. Plants are under construction at Polo and Rochelle. Funds have been authorized and plans completed for a plant at Dixon."

"Engineers have been employed to draw up plans, and applications for funds have been filed for the construction of plants at Byron, Erie, Oregon, Prophetstown, Rock Falls, Silvis and Sterling."

"Improvements in the treatment plant at the Dixon state hospital have been authorized and a new sewer system that will connect with the Rockford sanitary district system is being laid at Camp Grant."

Insurance Murder Trial Continued

Charleston, Mo., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The trial of Edgar H. Greese, Danville, Ill., one of five held in the insurance murder of Lige McCutcheon here last July 3, was continued to the February term of Circuit Court today at the request of the defense.

Greese was arrested at Danville soon after he had been indicted by a special grand jury, and at the time of his arrest, according to Sheriff J. O. King, he had in his possession an insurance policy for $2000 on McCutcheon.

Two Marengo Men Found Dead Wednesday P. M. in a Garage

Marengo, Ill.—Carbon monoxide poisoning was believed to have caused the death of Peter J. Berg, 58, a plumber, and Francis McGuire, 31, an electrician. Police Chief Fred Nelson and Charles McGuire, a brother of Francis, found the bodies in the front seat of Berg's automobile. Nelson theorized the men fell asleep after driving into the garage early in the morning.

Automobiles of Traffic Law Violators in Chicago to be Impounded for 30 Day Period

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Motorists arraigned in traffic court today were threatened with deprivation of their automobiles for 30 days.

Municipal Judge Eugene Holland announced convicted traffic law violators would be given a choice of a jail term or of having their machines impounded by the court in a public garage at the defendant's expense.

The court declared similar penalties would apply for such offenses as driving past stop lights, passing street cars on the left and reckless driving.

COUNTY WPA WORK BEGINS FRIDAY MORN

Approximately 125 Unemployed Men Will be Given Work

Highway commissioners of several townships of Lee county gathered in the supervisor's room at the court house this morning to receive final instructions for the opening of the county's Works Progress Administration program tomorrow. County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake presided at the meeting.

Approximately 125 men from the vicinity of Dixon and Amboy will start work on the county project Friday. This number has been divided about equally, one half of the workers reporting for duty in Dixon and the other half will report at the county highway shop at the Amboy fair grounds. The road and bridge committee of the board of supervisors was in session and will meet again tomorrow in connection with the WPA program.

Await Appointments. The federal plan requires that an assistant superintendent and timekeeper be named to supervise the work and arrange for the payment of the workers. At noon today, the county superintendent of highways office had not received the names of these two officials and no arrangements had been made for additional help at the court house.

A group of 18 men from Amboy is now being transported daily to Compton where one of the first projects in the county was begun yesterday. Cherry street, leading east from state highway, route 70, to the business district is included in a project which has been approved and allocated funds. The project provides for the necessary grading, drainage and resurfacing with a black top substance approx- imately four blocks of the street, which will provide an improved roadway to the business district from the state highway.

More WPA Projects in State Approved

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Comptroller General J. R. McCarl approved today an additional $23,839,705 worth of WPA projects for Illinois.

No additional funds were released, but officials said any of the $75,626,083 already released could be used to carry out projects chosen by the state WPA administration.

McCarl's action coincided with allotment by President Roosevelt of an additional $4,026,000 to WPA. To date, the president has allotted $1,084,840,950 to carry out projects selected from the $3,436,360,908 parcel.

McCarl has released $1,018,973,649 of allotments, and $2,486,823,840 worth of projects.

Still Yawing

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. P. E. Waelin, 42, who started yawning Sept. 8 and hasn't stopped since, was slightly improved today. However, she is exhausted, her throat is sore, her jaws and head and her eyes burn.

Oxygen treatment has enabled her to enjoy several periods of untroubled sleep and the spasms have become less frequent.

STREET DANCING ADDED TO FEATURE FOR FESTIVAL

A street dance was one of the last minute features decided upon for the Halloween Festival tonight. The dance will be sponsored by Rink's Service Station and Bob Sterling's orchestra will furnish the music. There will be no charge.

Spooks were abroad in Dixon last night. When citizens came to work this morning they were greeted by rows of corn shocks surrounding every lamp-post, shocks that had not been there late last night. Merchants were requested today to leave the show windows of their stores lighted tonight to brighten up the streets for the Festival.

People began coming into town this afternoon from the country to help Dixon celebrate its first Halloween Festival and carnival. Everything points to a successful adoption of the idea in this city.

KENTUCKY MINE UNREST GROWS

Governor is Asked to Send Troops to Another Section

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.—(AP)—With troops still guarding the Williams coal mine in western Kentucky and Governor Ruby Laffoon considering a request from southeastern Kentucky operators for soldiers, the struggle between operators of non-union mines and the United Mine Workers of America continued on two fronts in Kentucky today.

Governor Laffoon did not comment on a telegraphed protest from John L. Lewis, UMW president, against what Lewis termed "the atrocious shooting of union members" at Mannington Tuesday, by "gunmen employed by non-union coal companies."

Ten or fifteen demonstrators were wounded at Mannington before a squad of 25 National Guardsmen arrived. The soldiers remained on duty today. There were reports that automobile loads of union men and sympathizers who had shouted they were "coming back when the tin hats left," were reported to be preparing to march on other western Kentucky mines.

Kenneth Snarr, superintendent of the Williams mine, gave $2,000 bond for a hearing on a charge of shooting and wounding.

Work was halted at the Kentucky Jellico Coal Company mine in Knox county yesterday when some 300 union men and sympathizers reported to have come from Tennessee demonstrated before the mine. Operators and county officials requested the governor to send National Guardsmen there.

Pierce's Tavern License Revoked

Chairman William Burhenn of the board of supervisors and also of the Lee county liquor commission today revoked the license issued about two weeks ago to Wilbur Pierce to conduct a beer tavern south of the city limits on the Pump Factory road. The revocation order followed a conference with Sheriff Ward Miller and State's Attorney Edward Jones this morning.

The order of Chairman Burhenn directed Sheriff Miller to visit the Pierce tavern and night club and return the county license to County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock and at the same time to serve official notice that sale of intoxicating liquor will not be permitted. The Pierce tavern, which had during the two weeks of its brief existence gained the name, "the black and tan club," was the scene of a costly affray last Saturday night at which time Sheriff Miller ordered the place closed temporarily, pending an investigation by the county liquor commission.

CORPS DIRECTOR DEAD

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Funeral services for Curt Wiehe, 54, director of the Carbondale school of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, national champions, were held here today. ### October Dies in Chill Breath of Frigid North Wind With Snow, Sleet

How High is Up Outdone by This Court's Problem

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A question almost as perplexing as "how high is up?" was before the United States Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals today. No decision is expected for several weeks.

F. R. and Nannie Hinman, Burbank, Calif., appealed from a Los Angeles Federal court ruling that they were not entitled to damages because United Airlines fly low over their ranch before alighting at an adjacent airport.

The Hinmans figured use of their lower altitude space was worth $1500 a month, and asked $90,000 damages.

Their attorneys, M. L. Clopton, argued a man must own to "reasonable limits" above his land in order to build a house or plant a tree. He cited ancient law which held a man owned to infinity above his acres. He said an Iowa woman was found a trespasser for extending her arm across a neighbor's fence, and that extending telephone wires across land from poles outside the property was held a trespass in New York.

United Airlines contended the Hinmans must use the air if they wanted to establish property rights to it, denied damage or inconvenience to the Hinmans, and asked how the court could define "reasonable limits" of space when the Hinmans didn't even try to do so themselves.

FERNEKES' BODY STILL LIES UNCLAIMED TODAY

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The body of Henry J. "Midget" Fernekes lay unclaimed today at the Cook county morgue while authorities of two counties investigated his escape Aug. 3 from the old prison at Joliet and his suicide on Tuesday when recaptured by Chicago police.

Disposal of the remains awaited action by the tiny bank robber's former wife, Mrs. Jennie C. Hausner, or his brother, Irvin Fernekes, who said at the inquest yesterday that if no one else would make burial arrangements "I suppose I'll have to."

State's Attorney William R. McCabe of Will county (Joliet) pushed plans for a grand jury investigation, starting Monday, of how the "Midget" was able to walk out of prison disguised in civilian clothes and a mustache.

Public Administrator Jack Rubens of Chicago launched a search for the supposed $100,000 estate of the dead gunman, whose will left his possessions to the two sons of Mrs. Hausner.

Must Salute Flag

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The pupils of the Chicago public schools were ordered to sing the national anthem and salute and pledge allegiance to the flag today and every school day.

Resolutions to that effect were passed by the school board yesterday "because it is one of the primary objects of the board to instill in the minds of youth the loftiest ideals of patriotism." The resolutions made no mention of action against those who might refuse to comply with the orders.

THREE MILLIONS GIVEN ILLINOIS

Grant for Illinois for First Half of the Coming Month

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The federal emergency relief administration today informed the office of Senator James Hamilton Lewis that it would grant $3,025,000 for direct relief in Illinois for the first half of November.

Whether a grant for direct relief for the last half of November will be made is subject to the success of the works progress administration in putting men to work. Robert J. Dunham, WPA administrator for Illinois, today was in conference with Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, relative to the program in Illinois.

IERC SURPRISED

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Allotment of $3,025,000 in federal relief funds to Illinois for the first half of November came as a surprise to offices of the Illinois emergency relief commission today.

The commission last week asked $8,400,000 for the entire month, which will be decreased by more than $2,000,000 if the same allocation for the last half of the month is made by federal relief officials.

In the absence of Chairman John L. Martin and Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary, who are attending the state welfare conference in East St. Louis, no comment on the situation was forthcoming.

Independent Oil Men Against F. D. R.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A Borah-for-president move gathered force today on the floor of the annual convention of the nation's independent gasoline and oil dealers.

Rallying behind the Idahoan's declaration for "trust busting" as the major issue of the Republican campaign, the National Oil Marketers Association urged his nomination as President Roosevelt's opponent in 1936.

A resolution drafting Senator Borah into the presidential race was under preparation. Paul E. Hadlick, secretary of the association, said. He predicted its passage at the closing convention session today.

The independent dealers are "almost 100 per cent" opposed to the New Deal on the grounds that Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes opened the way for monopolies under the oil code, Hadlick said.

FOUND SALTED WELLS

Edaga Hamus, Ethiopia, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Italian troops reported today that they had found wells which had been salted by the Ethiopians as they retreated. The troops concerned had been marching toward the east in flanking operations. Italian military authorities said none of the water supplies had been poisoned.

HEAVY FURNITURE SALES.

Chicago.—Stimulated retail business and increased inventories to hedge against rising prices were given as the reasons for heavy buying reported by 500 exhibitors at the fall show in the American Furniture Mart.

Decision of English Judge in Days of Queen Elizabeth Makes Illinois Treasury $4,452 Richer

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner of Illinois remembered a court decision concerning the estates of a father and son hanged in Great Britain during the reign of Queen Elizabeth and the state treasury was $4,452 richer today.

Ancient English common law held that because the father outlived his son on the gallows by a few seconds, he inherited the son's estate, which in turn was bequeathed to the widowed mother rather than to the son's widow.

FOUR AIRMEN DIE IN CRASH AT CHEYENNE

Investigators Puzzled by Crack Up of United Airliner

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A silver-hued airliner roared out of a snow-flecked sky last night, hurled four airmen to death on a tiny hilltop, and left a puzzle for investigators in an ugly mass of molten metal.

What caused the 13-passenger plane, undergoing a trial flight, to crash on a low knoll six miles south of here, why it exploded as it dived to the earth, and why it leaped into the air to burst into a ball of flames were questions confronting investigators.

The victims, who had taken the United Airlines plane on what was to have been a leisurely cruise through rougher weather were:

M. T. Arnold, 35, chief of test pilots of the Ual, Cheyenne.

Hanley G. Cohn, 32, veteran Wyoming air service pilot, of Denver, formerly of Sheridan, Wyo.

Edward Yantis, about 28, of the Ual instrument crew, Cheyenne.

Harold Kaufman, 21, apprentice instrument man of the Ual, Cheyenne.

Witnessed by Score

No less than a score of persons saw the crash and told the same story.

The plane had been aloft about 25 minutes when the motor began to sputter. Two minutes later it plummeted with a deafening explosion, bounded high into the air with a second explosion, and fell in a mass of flames.

W. P. Moore, manager of the Ual offices here, said immediate inspection failed to determine the cause of the crash.

The plane, he said, was a Boeing two-motored passenger which had been taken off a regular transport run and reconditioned in the shops here. The flight was a routine "test flight" he explained, such as all Ual ships are given following the routine overhauling and before they are again placed in service.

Wreckage Guarded

Company guards stood over the wreckage throughout the night, braving frigid winds to keep the debris intact as curious crowds beat an all night trail to the seared hilltop.

Meanwhile, Frank Caldwell, of Chicago, general manager of the Ual, and a Department of Commerce investigator flew here to conduct the inquiry.

The tragedy was the second in the Cheyenne area this month. On Oct. 7, a giant Ual liner crashed 13 miles west of here, killing 12 persons. The disaster last night was 15 miles from the site of the previous crash, in the same sort of hill-studded terrain.

PROBE BOMBING CRASH

Dayton, O., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A board of army air corps officers convened at Wright Field today to try to ascertain the cause of the crash of the Boeing bomber, largest and most powerful bombing plane submitted to the air corps for possible purchase.

Funeral services for Major Ployer P. Hill, chief of the flight test section at the field who was killed in the crash, will be conducted tomorrow. The body will be taken to Newberryport, Mass., for services and burial there Sunday.

Mrs. Hill and her son will accompany the body east.

The board of inquiry, which is meeting behind closed doors, is checking and rechecking the plane wreckage in hope of finding some clue to the cause of the crash.

Two others among the five aboard the giant ship were recovering from burns received when it fell and burst into flames. Also recovering were two young air corps lieutenants who risked their lives to rescue those trapped in the plane.

SEEK VANISHED PILOT

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The vanished pilot of a navy plane mysteriously wrecked in the Chesapeake Bay, was hunted anew today by subchasers from the United States Naval Academy.

Although the navy department in Washington would not disclose the name of the plane's pilot, academy authorities believed the missing aviator was Lieut. Matthias M. Marple, 39, of Bridgeport, Conn.

The plane crashed yesterday.

Miss Barton Addresses Club in Amboy On Guatemala

Mrs. Frank B. Staely, Chicago, chairman of American Home department, will be the speaker for the meeting of Amboy Women's club members in the library on Nov. 4. Mrs. Staely always has some interesting material for her audience on the "American Home" and her talk should be very worthwhile.

The club has invited as their guests for this meeting, all the other county clubs, and a large attendance is expected. Tea will be served by the house committee.

The club members entertained the Junior Women's club in the library Monday evening, Oct. 20. 30th clubs were well represented. Rita Mae Dempsey, accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Hegert delighted the audience with two tap dances. Betty Neis played two beautiful piano selections.

Mrs. Herbert Parker, first vice president, in the absence of Mrs. W. T. Holladay, president, gave the welcome to the Juniors, and Miss Margaret Rambo gave the response and invited the seniors to be the guests of the juniors on Feb. 11, 1936.

A most interesting and intimate talk on Guatemala was given by Miss Esther Barton of Dixon, in her charming and humorous manner. Guatemala is a country that, thus far, is seldom visited by the tourist, and therefore more primitive and natural than most foreign nations. The chief industry, which is consumed entirely by the natives, is hand weaving and embroidery. Miss Barton displayed several exquisite pieces of this handwork to her audience.

Punch and cake were served by the house committee.

"Church Night" Supper Well Attended

Last night members of the Presbyterian church and their families enjoyed a "church night" supper, and it was a well attended and most enjoyable affair. The supper was all that could be desired and the hundred or more people present enjoyed very much the address given afterward by Judge Edwards, who talked on the Holy Land. Judge Edwards and his wife have recently returned from a visit to the Holy Land and his talk was beautifully given and full of information. He touched on the wholesome influence England has on Palestine and the influence France has over Syria. He told of the great feeling of reverence and awe stealing over one as they viewed the many sacred places where the Saviour walked and preached and performed His miracles, and left His indelible mark through the centuries.

Judge Edwards is a magnetic and delightful speaker and his listeners were loath to have him draw his address to a close.

Tailored of Fur

her husband had been football fans at the turn of the century, but not once in the old days could she recall seeing so much as a beer bottle after a game.

"If Bill had been with his crowd he'd have been drinking," she thought. "He's just at the age when

Woman President Prison Association

Atlanta, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Blanche L. La Du of Minneapolis, who introduced beauty parlors in hospitals for the insane, is the new president of the American Prison Association—the first of her sex to hold that office.

In Sauk Center, Minn., on an inspection trip, the dark-haired penologist expressed "complete surprise" at the result of the election here yesterday.

Association convention leaders, however, recalled incidents of Mrs. La Du's career which they said placed her in the top ranks of the profession.

The plan of beauty treatments to restore the interest and self-confidence of feminine patients, they said, is now used widely in the United States and Canada.

Youth's Recklessness Call For Some Sort of Chaperonage

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nothing makes me so angry as to hear a smug girl of sixteen call her mother old-fashioned. Or a youth too young to shave call his father an old fogey. Young people today have a habit of thinking that anyone born in or previous to 1900 lived in the dark ages before civilization began.

I'm not referring to the usual old bromide about youth and old age; everyone knows that at sixteen he thought his own parents ancient. That's easy to understand.

It is, rather, the misconception about the "slowness" of living when poor mother and dad were young, and the hangover of such sad days that now cramps their style, the idea of by-gone chaperones, dry parties and no cars—incredible to today's children.

The other day a friend went to a football game with her son and daughter. The boy chafed because he wanted to be with his crowd, but he endured the ignominy of escorting a parent and sister.

How Times Had Changed
As they made their way out the lady began to notice the empty flasks lying about. By the time they had reached the stadium gate she was shocked beyond belief. She and he wants to be smart. Poor Billy. What chance does a boy have today? Parents have no influence against all this.

She also interested herself in two or three places where Mary and her friends often drove for a few rounds of dancing. "Just the school crowd, half of them neighbors," she had complacently assured herself.

Quietly she and her husband took to dropping in for coffee and a sandwich. Once she saw a man from another table, who had been drinking mightily, tap Skip Miller on the shoulder and step off with Mary. Almost every girl at Mary's table danced with one or more of the older strangers, men of a type she would not have admitted to her house.

Mother Tightens Reins
"It's all just fun," insisted Mary. "Mother, you just can't understand, you're so old-fashioned. Young people know what they're doing."

"If you like dancing with a whiskey breath down your neck, my dear, you are less fastidious than I thought. If it takes that to give you a thrill, then I consider you just a bit vulgar."

"It's all in the way you look at it," said Mary. "You just can't understand, Mother."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As a mutual organization not engaged in making profits, the Associated Press has had memberships of a preponderant number and has imposed restrictions upon memberships. That is, it has had applications for memberships that have been refused.

In that situation the directing officials of The Associated Press have not thought it advisable to spend money for advertising, leaving the matter of publicizing the merits of the organization to the membership newspapers.

Employees of The Associated Press, however, saw an occasion for publishing a large piece of advertising in Editor & Publisher and paying for it themselves. Editor & Publisher is a professional publication circulating among editors and publishers and the advertising was calculated to impress readers with the superiority of the character of The Associated Press.

Language of the advertisement itself best explains the occasion, details of which were under discussion of managing editors of Associated Press newspapers recently in session in Chicago.

"The Associated Press is today the only exclusively newspaper press association in America," it says.

"A general definition of one that sells news to advertisers, bankers, brokers, government offices as well as newspapers is 'news agency.' Europe has such news agencies. Later they served newspapers, too.

"In America the reverse is now true. Certain press services operated here for years exclusively for newspapers, as The Associated Press still does. Thus they were properly termed 'press associations.' Having started services directly or indirectly to advertisers, United States government offices, radio stations, etc., those others now are properly defined as news agencies.

"The change is regretted. America has been particularly fortunate in that the press associations were solely instruments of the newspapers and not independent of the newspapers' best interests."

Frank B. Noyes, one time publisher of the Chicago Record-Herald, for many years and now publisher of the Washington Star, president of The Associated Press through the thirty-five years it has been incorporated under its present charter, pointed to this new situation, in a letter directed to the managing editors in convention.

In part, he said:
"The dangers which confronted the newspapers of America in 1893 were no greater and no more imminent than those that we face today. Then we feared the control of our news supply, our life blood, by a privately owned news service that might constitute a menace to a free press.

"Today I invite you to note that a privately owned news gathering organization has, directly or indirectly, accepted, as one customer, a very large industrial corporation from which it will (through a broadcasting arrangement) be in receipt of large sums of money.

"I ask you to consider the peril that would confront you if The Associated Press was in relation to larger financial interests of any kind—banking, public utility, oil companies or any other large interests—that involved the receipt by your organization of large sums of money and made it (possibly unjustly) in the view of the general public subservient to these interests."

Briefly, the point is that a news gathering agency not only should be on the level, but it should be above suspicion.

News agencies above referred to have been built by newspaper men. As long as the instinct and training of the reporter is the governing factor, they will give honest news reports. It is possible to give honest news reports and at the same time to sell news to some business agency. It does not mean that the business agency can dictate to the news agency any more than it means that advertisers can dictate policy to the newspapers that sell them space. It is possible for both the news agency and the newspaper to deal uprightly with their public notwithstanding other business relations.

Therefore, we do not fear for these news agencies that are peddling their wares here there and everywhere as long as they are manned by men of newspaper instincts, but if other elements come into control through other business alliances, then their patrons have reason to become suspicious of business instead of news is of prior interest.

Only in the news and editorial rooms of a newspaper is work carried on with a happy disregard for the counting room and the cash register, and there alone is that spirit of fact gathering and printing understood.
The counting room doesn't understand it, and the advertisers wonder why. The subscriber never suspects the sacrifices made in order that he may be served the truth.

The reader must come first. Otherwise the newspaper weakens itself.

We do not know where the news agencies other than The Associated Press are going in their newly charted courses. They may know, and they may only think they know.

The Associated Press is governed by its members, who are of all political faiths, and it fulfills the specifications above referred to, that a news gathering agency not only should be on the level, but it should be above suspicion.

The Dixon Telegraph is a member of The Associated Press.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The kindly witch of Halloween said, "No doubt, fine sights you have seen but have you ever witnessed pumpkins sailing off through space?"
"It only happens once a year, and I am very glad you're here, 'cause soon you're going to see a very funny pumpkin race."

Wee Doty answered, "Twil be new, and it is very kind of you to make us feel so welcome. We're as thrilled as we can be."
"But, will the pumpkins come back here? They'll fall and smash to bits, I fear. Why do you work so hard to carve them? That's what puzzles me."

"Oh, I just know that they'll bring fun on Halloween, to everyone," replied the witch. "Besides, you see that's all I have to do."
"When Halloween's no longer here, I go to sleep and snooze a year. Then I work fast and have more pumpkins carved before I'm through."

"They will not smash, but they will rot, but not before they've brought a lot of smiles to little youngsters who are waiting 'round the earth."

"To make wee youngsters smile is great. That's why I never hesitate, each time this season rolls around, to work for all I'm worth."

"Well," Scouty said, "Let's start the sport. We've pumpkins here of every sort. I want to see them sail away before night turns to dawn."
"No longer should we hesitate.
Twil spoil it all, if they are late.
They will not mean a thing on earth when Halloween is gone."

The witch replied, "You're very right." She waved her hands, and what a sight! The pumpkins started rising and wee Goldy cried, "Good-by!"

Another Tiny said, "I'm thrilled
Just look! The air is almost filled Why, even the moon is smiling, as they sail off through the sky."

NEW WILDCAT SPIRIT BORN FOR ILLINOIS

Northwestern Is Getting Better Every Week

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 31.—The Illinois football team is ready for a stirring battle at Evanston against a strong Northwestern team that nearly took the measure of Minnesota's Gopher champions last week.

Rallying after their loss to Iowa's powerful squad, the Illini have put in a busy week of preparation for the invasion of the North Shore. The Zupps feel that at best Iowa was not more than one touchdown better last week and this represented the speed of the lithe Oze Simmons. Without discounting the strength of Northwestern, they hope to return with the Wildcat pelt as a fitting preliminary to their appearance in the stadium against Michigan at homecoming next week.

Bob Zupke has worked like the proverbial beaver to strengthen the running and passing attack and to build up a defense for the fleet Wildcats. Swisher, Heap and Cruick, Northwestern's half-carriers were good enough to score two touchdowns on Minnesota and moreover, the showing of the Wildcats at Minneapolis gave them confidence in their ability for the future. At Evanston the Illini must be braced to meet an inspired and keyed Northwestern eleven, playing in its own front yard.

No Changes Likely. It is improbable that there will be any changes to speak of in the Illini lineup which will probably consist of Nelson and Dykstra, ends; Galbreath and Antilla, tackles; Gryboski and Kuhn, guards; Sayre, center; Henry, quarterback; Spurgeon and Lindberg, halfbacks; and Wilson and Theodore, fullbacks.

However, some of these reserves are certain to break into the game: Bill Bennis, Francis Cantwell and Ed Skarda, ends; John Lippold and Matt Tischler, guards; Jack Berner and Howard Fletcher, tackles; George Frederick, center; Cliff Gano, quarterback; Bob Grieve and Jewett Cole, halfbacks; and Joe Brown, fullback.

The Illini will entrain for Evanston Friday morning. Many supporters will follow by special train and other methods of transportation and it is certain that the east stands at Dye stadium will be thronged with Orange and Blue adherents.

Illinois partisans who cannot make the trip to Evanston are looking toward the homecoming game against Michigan which has led the ticket sales from the opening day. The traditional rivalry between the Wolverines and Illini and the annual reunion of alumni and other oldtime friends of the university will combine to make this the red-letter occasion of the home season.

RENEW SERIES. Notre Dame and Illinois will meet on the gridiron at Notre Dame Saturday for the first time since 1898 when the Irish beat Illinois 5 to 0 on old Illinois field in the only game they have ever played.

To be exact, it is only the "B" teams of the two universities which play this week, but at that, there is much interest in the engagement as a harbinger of the varsity series between the Irish and Illini to open in the Illinois stadium in 1937.

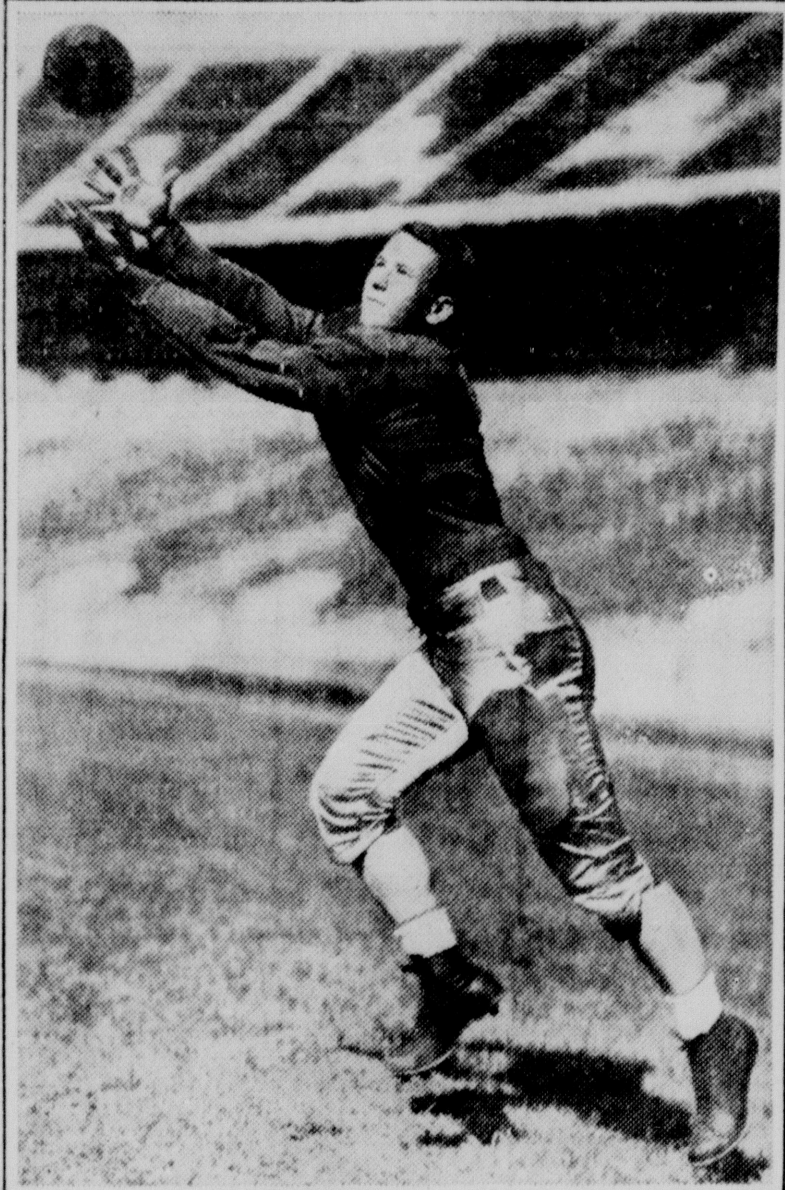

The Illinois "B's" are eager to distinguish themselves that they may win promotion to the varsity, as several of their former teammates have done. These games give players an opportunity to show what they can do in actual competition and undoubtedly some of the boys who line up as sophomores Saturday against the Irish secondary squad will be found in the varsity game lineup two years from now.

The Illinois "B" team has played one tie with Purdue's "B" squad and lost another to the Boiler-makers, 12 to 6. The game at Notre Dame is the first of two, the Irish "B's" coming to the Illinois stadium Nov. 16.

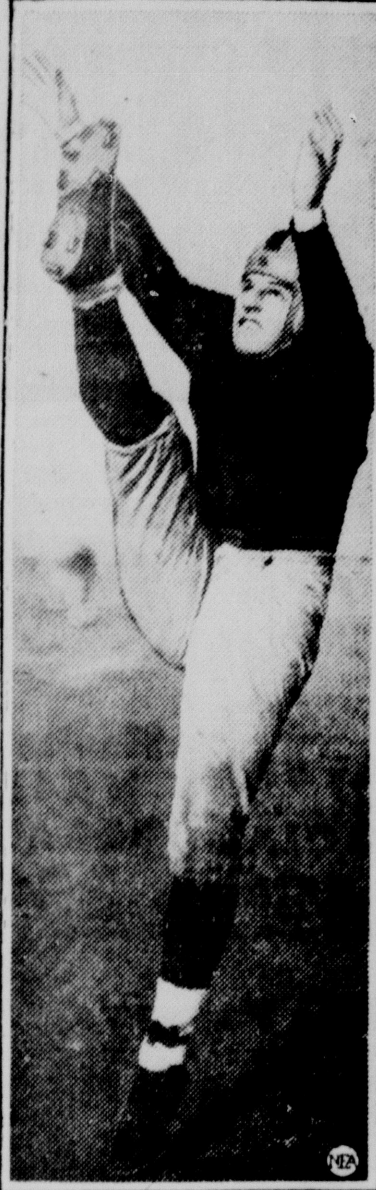

The "B" team is coached by Doug Monson, an assistant football coach. Monson, who returned after an absence of five years hoping to win his varsity football letter, suffered a broken leg in the varsity-freshman game two years ago, but his work in the school of physical education earned him an appointment to the staff.

The probable lineup will be: Ellsworth Furgerson and Leland Oliver, ends; Phil Cherry and Henry Moore, tackles; Dick Fay and Bill Kusz, guards; Irving Robbins, center; Frank Leonette, quarterback; Walter Pearson and Joe

ACES IN BUCKEYE, IRISH HANDS

Each of these fellows will keep a very respectful eye on the other when Ohio State and Notre Dame collide before 80,000 spectators at Columbus, Nov. 2. Catching a pass is Merle Wendt, great Buckeye end, headed for All-America honors. Right is Bill Shakespeare, one of the best punters in the game, who is leading the running attack of the Irish. He, also, is on the way to national honors.

REDMEN MEET FREEPORT PRO TEAM SUNDAY

Strive for Third Victory, Defend Uncrossed Goal

The Freeport Pros are booked to meet the Dixon Redmen on the high school field here, Sunday, November 3. Manager Bud Prescott reported this morning.

The locals have won two games to date both by sizeable margins. Two weeks ago the Redmen clashed with Rockford All-Stars and won a 34 to 0 decision when "Bull" Wolf, fullback, ripped the Rockford line to shreds. Last Sunday the Independents hung up a neat 27 to 0 victory over Janesville, Wis., an eleven that proved to have been an over-rated team. Janesville brought only eleven men to the game and injuries during the contest forced them to complete it with only nine in the line-up.

Line-up Given

The Redmen line-up will consist about as follows: Bellows, left end; Jones, left tackle; Knapp, left guard; Holland, center; Buchanan, right guard; Schunefeldt, right tackle; Stauffer, right end; Muller, quarterback; McIntyre, right halfback; Wolford, fullback, and Witzleb, left halfback. The Freeport line-up will place Winterland at left end, Williams at left tackle, Wallis, left guard; Gage, center; Cassiana, right guard; Kiasa, right tackle; Evers, right end; Meyers, quarterback; Lane, left halfback; Kinick, right halfback; and Duray, fullback.

The enemy is not the same Freeport team which played the locals in 1934 and who were defeated 12 to 0 here.

MISSISSIPPI IS READY FOR ARMY

Highland Falls, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Major Ralph Sasse, whose Mississippi State football team is encamped on the outskirts of West Point for the expressed purpose of defeating Army Saturday, pulled a new one out of his bag of tricks today.

"We carry quite a few northern and western boys on our squad," said Major Sasse, whose team hit the headlines when it bowled over Alabama, "and there'll be eleven of them in there if the weather is chilly."

"If it continues warm, we'll start off with a team from below the Mason-Dixon line."

In the squad of 30-odd players, more than a dozen hail from the east and middle west. Charlie Gaska, Major Sasse's All-America end candidate, is a Chicago product.

"We had trouble finding enough overcoats to go around," said Sasse, "so I bought each of the boys an extra sweat shirt."

EXPORTS FALL OFF

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A marked slump in United States' exports to Italy in September was reported by the Commerce Department. September exports amounted to $4,795,000, a drop of $800,000 from August, and only slightly over the $4,741,000 total of September last year.

SCHMIDT MOANS OVER LISTLESS GRID PRACTICE

Detroit, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Heinie "Kid Boots" Schuble, the King Jester and No. 1 "jockey" who "rode" the Detroit Tigers into two pennants and one world championship, won't be with the Detroit club next year.

Detroit sold Schuble outright yesterday to the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association for an unannounced sum. Some of the fans may not know he's gone, but it's certain that the Bengals themselves will miss the utility infielder credited with keeping their spirits high at crucial moments.

Schuble came to Detroit in 1929 from Houston in the Texas League and the Tigers paid $35,000 for him. He looked like a great prospect, but his lack of endurance and erratic fielding kept him from a regular job in the Bengal infield.

But "Kid Boots," his teammates often agreed, earned his salary on the bench. He was the scourge of opposing players, and the only member of the Detroit club who dared to "kid" Manager Mickey Cochrane.

PRINCETON TO SPRING PASS COMBINATION

Tigers Have Many Tricks Planned for the Locals

Princeton's Tigers will again test N. C. I. football competition Saturday afternoon here, by tangling with the Purple and White Dixon high warriors. The invaders got their first taste of the N. C. I. league football possibilities by absorbing a 6 to 0 loss at Mendota hands earlier in the season. The Tigers will enter the loop officially next year.

The meeting will be the first time in several years that Princeton has enjoyed athletic relations with Dixon, except for a track meet held on the field here last spring. The Purple and White will also engage the Tigers in a double basketball bill this winter.

Coach Eric Strom's new combinations that he displayed last Saturday against DePue are expected to be more perfected and will cause Dixon plenty of trouble this week. Simpson, a power house who was shifted from tackle to do some backfield work has promises of a good showing in the coming tilt. Princeton's new passing combination, J. Boussett to Campbell, worked out to satisfaction last week and with some diligent practice during the coming week will make this play a dangerous threat for Dixon and Geneseo, their next foe and final encounter of the year.

Although Dixon's power may look good now, the Strom-men are known to pull upsets and the Princeton aggregation firmly believe that it can be done.

MICHIGAN IS COMING BACK EACH WEEKEND

Worrying the Big Ten Foes With Its Old System

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—While Ohio State and Minnesota are supplying headline news for the football pages, the Big Ten, Buckeyes and Gophers included, is worrying in silence over a familiar but puzzling menace—Michigan.

The Wolverines are punting, passing and praying again.

When Michigan State licked the Wolves, 25 to 6, on the opening day of the season, October 5, the Big Ten relaxed from that old source of worry and centered its attentions on the Buckeyes and Gophers. Coaches, who didn't have Ohio State and Minnesota on their schedules, exchanged congratulations.

But the worry is back operating from the old Maize and Blue stand. Snapping back after the Michigan State collapse, the Wolverines played smart, defensive football to prick the big Indiana bubble, 7 to 0. They caught Wisconsin on the rebound and licked the Badgers, 20 to 12, by snatching the breaks at Madison. Last week, playing their punt, pass and a prayer formation to perfection, they invaded and beat Columbia, 19 to 7. Nothing very impressive in those victories, but the schedule and comeback drive is typical of those that have found Michigan as a mighty team when the season neared the finish.

Has Sensational Passer. Every great Michigan team of modern day football has had a sensational passer, Coach Harry Kipke calls Bill Renner a greater passer than either Bennie Friedman or Harry Newman, a surprising statement in view of Michigan's disastrous loss this fall.

Pennsylvania will invade Michigan Saturday to give the Maize and Blue an acid test before it resumes Big Ten warfare. Penn whiffed Columbia, 34 to 0, and gave Yale and Princeton hard battles before losing. If Michigan can defeat the Quakers, it will be a greater source of worry than ever to Minnesota and Ohio State, which must play Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Forward pass defense and drills on old fundamentals occupied Big Ten teams today as they hustled through final hard workouts for Saturday's games. Purdue and Minnesota labored long for their important duel at Minneapolis. The Gophers drilled on passes but receiving was so poor, generally, that Coach Bernie Bierman sent his players jogging around the field as a penalty for misplays.

TARHEELS ONLY UNBEATEN DIXIE FOOTBALL TEAM

Atlanta, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The South may be without an undefeated major team for the first time in 11 years when this dizzy football campaign closes late in November.

Dixie's last hope is North Carolina—an eleven that has not finished with a perfect record in 37 years. The Carolina Tarheels must clear four more hurdles if they are to uphold the South's streak of producing at least one undefeated eleven annually since 1924.

While Alabama, Tulane, Tennessee, Louisiana State, Vanderbilt and all other favorites were failing victims of starting reversals, North Carolina has won five straight games. The Tarheels turned back Wake Forest, Tennessee, Maryland, Davidson and Georgia Tech. They have yet to meet N. C. State, Virginia Military Institute, Duke and Virginia.

Blind Senator Is Daring Horseman

Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota refuses to let blindness keep him from enjoying the thrills of horsemanship. Mounted on "Kismet," famous champion jumper, he is pictured taking an obstacle on a riding course near Washington, D. C. Bells attached to the hurdle approaches a jump.

Here and There In Sports World

BP EDDIE BRIETZ Associated Press Sports Writer New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Ouch! Natie Brown didn't go to England to fight Jack Petersen because his manager, Prof. William McCarnay, nonchalantly waved aside an offer of $1500 (about $7500) thinking Robert Tredinnick, British promoter was due to new interest in boxing or merely to the rise of the Detroit Bomber, may come tomorrow when Primo Carnera and Walter Neusel open the indoor season at Madison Square Garden.

Before he ran afoul of Louis' punishing fists, Carnera was something of a drawing card among the heavyweights. Neusel's greatest venture into big-time battling came when he was knocked out by Max Schmeling.

As far as title aspirations and the like are concerned, it will be just another heavyweight fight unless one or the other can win decisively enough to hop into the ranks of the contenders. As an indication of public interest, however, the attendance may be of considerable importance.

Between them they've managed to work up all the signs of a good scrap, and fans are rating it as an even money affair.

CARNERA WILL FIGHT NEUSEL

"Just Another Bout" Is Opinion of Boxing Fans

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Some light on the question of whether last summer's revival of "million dollar" boxing gates—as evidenced by the Joe Louis-Max Baer scrap—was due to new interest in boxing or merely to the rise of the Detroit Bomber, may come tomorrow when Primo Carnera and Walter Neusel open the indoor season at Madison Square Garden.

Before he ran afoul of Louis' punishing fists, Carnera was something of a drawing card among the heavyweights. Neusel's greatest venture into big-time battling came when he was knocked out by Max Schmeling.

As far as title aspirations and the like are concerned, it will be just another heavyweight fight unless one or the other can win decisively enough to hop into the ranks of the contenders. As an indication of public interest, however, the attendance may be of considerable importance.

OLIN RESTING UP FOR WORLD TITLE BATTLE

Meets Negro Rival for Light-Heavyweight Crown

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Each with his pre-fight oral victory tucked away, light heavyweight champion Bob Olin of New York and John Henry Lewis, Arizona Negro challenger, rested today for the actual business of battling for the world title tonight.

They will go into the ring in the St. Louis arena at 10 o'clock (Central Standard Time) for a fight scheduled for 15 rounds.

Olin, facing his first test since he took the light heavyweight crown from Maxie Rosenbloom almost a year ago, was confident of the outcome.

"You can tell the world," he said, "that at no time in my career have I felt as good as I do now. I believe I am in better shape than I was the day I beat Rosenbloom."

"I've boxed Lewis before and I know that I will still be light heavyweight champion after tonight."

Meanwhile Lewis, who is to be fortified by having the sensational Negro heavyweight, Joe Louis, as his second, declared he would win by a knockout early in the fight.

The Missouri state athletic commission at a meeting last night adopted a special ruling to eliminate any chance of the match ending in a foul. Effective immediately, the ruling specified that a contestant delivering a foul would automatically lose the round.

TALK EASTERN TIME

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, Harsh, Exhausting Salts or Waking, Irritating, Habit-Forming Laxatives.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out this way. Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with methods that are hard, futile or depend on harmful, health-sapping salts and laxatives for their action. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have found successful to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get Marmola today from druggists.

GIVING CREDIT.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

NEWMAN FLOWER, in his new life of Handel, the musician, puts us right on one point, as regards the librettist who provided the selection of Bible passages on which the oratorio, "The Messiah" was founded.

The fortunes of Handel were at a low ebb, and a man named Charles Jennens sent him the passages of scripture which became the basis of the work. The oratorio was written in the amazingly short period of twenty-four days, and remain to this day a masterpiece of genius.

Jennens claimed the credit for selecting the words and was duly swelled with pride. But it was a half-starved little clergyman who lived with Jennens as his secretary who actually did the work. It is only within the last year or two that tardy justice has been done.

In the same way, the credit for the discovery of chloroform has gone to James Y. Simpson, a famous surgeon of Scotland, whereas the real discoverer was a chemist in Edinburgh, named Waidie, who Simpson knew about it and suggested that he use it as an anesthetic, and he did so.

Simpson did not deliberately take the credit, but it was given him by popular opinion. Waidie went out to India, and refused to return to Scotland through resentment at not being given due credit.

There is a tablet in his honor in the room of the Asiatic Society in Calcutta. Whatever the pros and cons of the case, it seems clear that popular acclaim has given all the credit to Simpson and none to Waidie.

How often it has been so in history. Darwin and Wallace hit upon the idea of evolution at the same time, but Darwin gets all the credit; as Marconi gets all the honor for discovering wireless telegraphy and all the wonders which have resulted from that amazing feat.

The art of giving credit where credit is due—not only in great matters but in small—is one of the finest of arts. It is ever the mark of a noble mind, and one of the secrets of fine living. Nothing so inspires others to do their best, or binds people more loyally together. Better err, if at all, on the side of giving too much credit than too little.

Many Vegetables Make Good Juices

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Not long ago I was with a group of nutritionists who discussed the virtues of the vegetable kingdom, when it was agreed that many vegetables beside tomatoes make delightful appetizers for luncheon and dinner. Canned or fresh are equally good, for generally there is no waste or loss of vitamin content and mineral constituents if the juice as well as the solid vegetable is made full use of.

Careful and zestful seasoning are essential in preparing appetizers. Lemon juice or vinegar, sugar, salt, sometimes a mere suspicion of spice, a drop of onion juice, just a hint of pepper—any or all of the condiments in the pantry can be added to almost any vegetable flavor with appetizing effect. But all this is wasted if the final product is not thoroughly chilled and served.

Cooking Waters Are Useable
The water in which celery is cooked, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, broccoli, carrots, mushrooms all are useable either made alone or in combination. Tomato and sauerkraut, beet and tomato, beet and cauliflower, carrot and mushroom—these are truly delicious combinations.

A tiny sprig of parsley, two or three very tiny pearl onions, a slice of stuffed olive, a caper or two make attractive garnishes besides adding a bit of distinctive flavor to all vegetable juice cocktails.

After the vegetable has been removed for serving the vegetable stock can be seasoned and cooked a few minutes. This insures a delicately blended flavor for the finished cocktail.

Of course, the same vegetable should not appear twice in the meal. The vegetable stock can be kept in the refrigerator and used to provide contrast in flavor for the next meal or the next day.

Beet Juice Cocktail

PLANNING ALL MEALS BEFORE HOUSE GUEST ARRIVES LIGHTENS HOSTESS' BURDENS

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

One thing I learned years ago has added inestimably to my enjoyment of the role of hostess to house guests—that is to plan, before their arrival, the menus for the entire visit. Besides saving many a flustered minute, it is the most economical way to entertain. I plan to use my leftovers at luncheon whenever there are any and rely on an unusual dessert or hot biscuits or

Tomorrow's Menu
Breakfast—Ripe Plums, cereal, cream, baked French toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Jellied bouillon, with radishes and celery, apricot fluffy omelet, ice-box cinnamon rolls, watermelon cones, milk, tea.

Dinner—Pot roast of veal, beets in orange sauce, mashed potatoes, minted cucumber and cabbage salad, filled cup cakes, milk, coffee.

something special to make the meal festive.

Left-over chicken, for instance, goes into stuffed tomatoes. Combine the finely chopped meat with rice, season well and moisten with chicken stock. Stuff scooped out tomatoes with mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and serve with scrambled eggs.

A fruit omelet is delicious for Sunday morning breakfast or makes a splendid luncheon dish when there's not a left-over to be used.

Another interesting fruity main dish is a variation of a club sandwich.

Apricot Fluffy Omelet
Four eggs, 1 tablespoon butter, 3-4 cup milk, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, 1 scant teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, apricot jam.

Put tapioca, salt, pepper and the milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and bring to the scalding point. Then cook five minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter and remove from the boiling water. Let cool slightly while beating eggs. Beat whites and yolks separately, beating yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat whites until stiff. Add egg yolks to cooked mixture and mix well. Fold in whites of eggs and pour into a hot 10-inch iron frying pan in which butter is melted. Cook over a low flame for three minutes. Then bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes. Cut across at right angle to handle of spider, being careful not to cut all the way through. Spread with jam. Fold and slide onto a hot platter. Dust with powdered sugar and serve at once.

Club Sandwich
Hot buttered toast, cheese, bacon, pineapple, lettuce, mayonnaise. Put a thin slice of cheese on a piece of toast and melt in broiler. Cook bacon until crisp, two slices for each sandwich. Saute sliced pineapple in bacon fat. Put a slice of pineapple on melted cheese, cover with a leaf of crisp lettuce and add another slice of toast. Cover with lettuce leaves and on these put the bacon. Spread with mayonnaise, add more lettuce and top with a piece of toast. Serve with a pickle fan and a radish rose on each sandwich.

Filled Cup Cakes
This dessert is a winner every time. If you have the individual baking pans to make the cake shells, well and good. If not bake cup cakes and cut out centers.

Four cake shells, 1 cup milk, 5 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons of cornstarch, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 cup shredded coconut, 1 egg, 1 cup diced peaches. Heat milk in double boiler. Mix and sift sugar, cornstarch and salt and stir in hot milk. Return to heat and cook in hot milk. Return to heat and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cover and cook a few minutes longer. Cool and add vanilla and coconut. Fill cake shells with cream and chill in refrigerator for an hour or longer. Top with diced or sliced peaches or berries and serve.

Beauty Novelties Are Taking Hold

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Now that summer tan is just a memory, the early fall permanent wave season past and gone, and the social season glamorously launched, it is a good idea to go over the list of beauty ideas that not only are new but correct and likely to be with us all winter.

First of all, we might as well agree that nail polish is brighter and, judging by the hands seen across fashionable hotel tables, the smarter the woman the brighter her polish. As a matter of fact, odd shades are creeping into the manicure picture. Corals, pinks, wines and even copper may not be here to stay, but they are popular at the moment. One manufacturer of nail polish suggests pale gold over rust, silver over coral, pale pink over scarlet and the like.

Lips are brighter, too, and, thank fortune, the trend is toward naturalness. Nowadays the best groomed women are picking lipsticks that enhance the tones of their own lips.

Perfume manufacturers undoubtedly have decided to take to heart the problems of women with limited incomes. It is possible to get diminutive flacons of your favorite, quite expensive perfume. Attractive flacons, too, which are lovely on a dressing table.

Bobbed hair is not as short as formerly, giving a girl a chance to wear the ends curled up for daytime and longer, or even done up, for evening. Coiffure ornaments are seen in profusion. You can wear anything from tiny jeweled flowers to sweeping feathers and tiaras in your evening hairdress.

President Going Home For a Week

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will head for Hyde Park tonight to remain until after next week's New York state elections.

The President has always gone home to vote but this year he arranged to leave earlier than usual because workmen are still busy repairing the White House. Thus far the renovators who began work weeks ago have completed only three rooms.

He is expected to remain at Hyde Park until the middle of next week. The election is Tuesday. Soon after he returns to Washington he will prepare for his annual Thanksgiving visit to Warm Springs, Ga.

NEW OFFICES at 123 E. First St.
SATURDAY, NOV. 2nd

The Public is Invited to Call and See the New Clark Hyperpyrexator (Friendly Fever) Machine in Operation.

This is the treatment you have read about in many National magazines, "Ladies Home Journal," "Good Housekeeping" and others. Physicians of all schools endorse and use it.

Clark's Hyperpyrexator is the last word in friendly fever treatment. It is the safest, most comfortable and accurately controlled machine yet devised for this purpose.

No other method of treatment has given such a high percentage of good results in "incurable" diseases, such as arthritis, rheumatism, asthma, hay fever, St. Vitus dance, high blood pressure, some forms of paralysis, venereal disease and their after effects.

Acute diseases, colds, bronchitis, early pneumonia, etc., usually require but one treatment.

TRADING WITH BELLIGERENTS "DISCOURAGED"

U. S. May Be Planning Some New Action to Stop Dealings

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The fact that the Roosevelt administration is bearing down harder than ever in its efforts to "discourage" trade with Italy and Ethiopia caused informed observers to wonder today whether some new action may not be under consideration.

This speculation was aroused by President Roosevelt's statement of yesterday, in which he hit at war profits and warned that the government "is keeping informed as to all shipments consigned for export to both belligerents." A short time earlier, Secretary Hull had said bluntly the United States is seeking to "discourage dealings" with the belligerents.

What the government might do to implement this campaign of "moral pressure" if the African war should stimulate a boom in American exports destined for the warring countries was a question officials did not answer.

May Broaden Embargo
Informed circles, however, speculated as to whether the administration would broaden its present arms embargo to include a ban on other commodities useful in the manufacture of war material or in the conduct of war.

Officials have said they are studying the problem of whether the embargo should include such "key" war materials as copper, oil, cotton, and scrap iron. There has been no indication, however, that such a step would be taken. The idea of broadened embargo involves the question of what the cotton-raising south, the iron and steel regions, the oil districts, etc., would say about such a move and what effect their reaction would have on congress and the administration.

Some commentators have said that America's new neutrality policy will get its first big test when "temptation" offers itself in the form of greatly increased demand and higher prices induced by war.

RELIEF COST IN 1936 LIKELY TO BE REAL ISSUE

Political Leaders See Talking Point During the Campaign

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's decision on how much to spend for relief next year may be a talking point in the 1936 campaign.

That decision is the most important now facing him in preparing next year's budget. Administration officials have already indicated that expenditures for normal government activities will be about the same as this year's.

In his recent budget summary, the president said "the prevailing rate of recovery points to the speedy decline of federal expenditures for emergency activities." He said he was seeking to decrease "the spread between income and outgo."

The reply of the American Liberty League, one of the severest critics of the administration's fiscal policies, was that "beyond a general tone of optimism, nothing in the president's comments justifies confidence that the submission of the new budget next January will mark a return to sound fiscal policies."

Must Change Policy
Noting probable new demands for continued heavy spending, the league added, "it is, therefore, apparent that unless underlying policies are sharply changed, there will be a strong tendency to spend as much in (the fiscal year) 1937 as in 1936."

Doubt that emergency expenditures would decrease next year also was expressed by Representative Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

"I hope they do," Bolton said, "but I understand the administration is planning for new large emergency expenditures in the next budget."

Administration spokesmen say that the curtailment of emergency expenditures depends upon absorption of the unemployed by private industry. They agree that some of the relief spending will have to continue for years, but contend the treasury can stand that in view of expected increases in revenue.

SEEKS SUPREME COURT HEARING ON GUFFEY LAW

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—While trial of the constitutionality of the Guffey coal act continued before a lower tribunal, an attempt was made today to get the question to the Supreme Court.

Attorneys for James W. Carter claimed they had been denied due process of law by the District of Columbia Supreme Court and asked immediate action by the highest federal court.

Yesterday Carter was denied an injunction preventing collection of a 15 per cent tax on the value of coal levied under the Guffey act from those who do not abide by the coal code.

At the same time, the District of Columbia Supreme Court, at Carter's request, enjoined his company, the Carter Coal Company of Washington, which operates in Virginia and West Virginia, from complying with the code set-up.

The latter was conditional on posting bond for $1,500 a day for ten days.

Ordinarily an appeal would first have to be heard by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. In his Supreme Court appeal today, however, Carter contended the $1,500 daily bond and threat of prolonged trial in lower courts entitled him to prompt consideration by the Supreme Court.

Carter told the highest court he had attempted to obtain a test on constitutionality of the Guffey act before November 1, the day the tax becomes effective. He added that government attorneys prevented that.

Washington Parade

By CARLISLE BARGERSON

Washington—One of the brighter phases of the Roosevelt Revolution is the President's affection for the NRA. It's the real romance of the New Deal. In all of the confusion, the charges and countercharges, the figurative bloodshed, the struggles of the subordinates for the places closest to the throne, the attachment is something beautiful to contemplate.

Honestly, the only thing that can compare with it is the devotion of a woman to a drunken man who beats her every night. Mr. Roosevelt's NRA caused him more trouble than all of his other agencies combined and in the end gave him just about one of the most ungrateful wallop a body ever received. But he still loves it. Some of his advisers try vainly to lead him away: "Come on, Mr. President, forget about it," they plead. "It never was worth your time and trouble. It's a good riddance." But Mr. Roosevelt to save his life doesn't seem to be able to keep from turning and looking longingly back at it. And every now and then they surprise him in the act of fondling it again.

There is hardly any doubt that sooner or later he will make an effort to revive it. For one thing there are still some 2,500 employees down there. Every now and then somebody calls attention to this and an official statement explains "Yes, the dismantling has been a little slow but we expect to move faster from now on." Later it pops up that the employees are still there.

It has developed that of all the major problems before the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor the revival of the NRA could hardly be called a major one. In this situation two federation officials who play ball with the Republicans, Messrs. Duffy and Hutchinson, succeeded in talking at a session not well attended, a resolution throwing the Federation's support behind a Constitutional amendment to permit an NRA. When the Administration forces here heard about this they got excited and called on John L. Lewis, the mine union head, to resurrect it. John did and the convention finally passed a resolution directing its executive committee to draw up a proposed Constitutional amendment.

The funny thing is that it is the Administration here that considers an NRA so vital to the workingmen. The Federation delegates seemed not much concerned about it one way or the other. Passage of the resolution was apparently a case of John Lewis "doing something" for the Administration. It recalls the situation last spring. The Federation was denouncing the NRA and saying it ought to be abandoned. Overnight, Mr. Roosevelt reorganized its administrative setup and put one of Lewis' lieutenants on it. Then John and the other leaders began saying "Yes, Mr. Roosevelt is right. The NRA is absolutely essential to the American workingman."

The impression is that if Mr. Roosevelt can't get any supporters for a new NRA any other way he will appoint some. A Commission of Supporters for a new NRA—that would be the thing!

A yield of 140 bushels of oats to the acre was obtained in 1935 on a ranch in the Yakima valley, Washington.

HYPERPYREXATOR LATEST DEVICE TO HELP HUMANS

Fever Making Machine Added to Equipment of Dixon Doctor

A Clark's hyperpyrexator, one of only four in the state of Illinois, has been installed by Dr. L. R. Trowbridge of this city for the treatment of acute and chronic diseases by the inducement of "friendly fever", the more common term used in connection with the machine.

The discovery in 1918 that fever could be used as a weapon against disease when produced artificially, was largely the result of an accident. Wagner von Jauregg discovered that an incurable disease in one of his patients was physiologically cured while under his care after the patient had run a course of malarial fever.

The first practical fever machine was developed in 1929 to produce controlled artificial body heat.

Later the Whitney radiotherm was developed as a possible scientific fever producer. It was not until 1930 however that the first practical air-conditioned, and sanitary steel hyper unit was built by Clark for artificial fever induction in the Electrical Research laboratories. He called it a hyperpyrexator.

Unexpected Success
The success of Clark's machine has surpassed his wildest dreams. He has built over sixty machines for clinical and scientific research in hospitals and clinics.

The patient afflicted with chronic diseases reclines upon a sanitary couch within the hygienic steel tank of conditioned air to receive the fever treatment. While lying mentally and physically comfortable a state of fever, or hyperpyrexia is produced, the treatment being under perfect automatic control. A trained operator supervises the machine and controls the temperature desired. Reactions of the patient to the treatment are recorded every second on an instrument panel in full view of the patient, physician and attending nurse.

Dr. Trowbridge's machine is the only hyperpyrexator in this region. The others are all located and owned by physicians and osteopaths in central and southern Illinois.

ENGLAND FILES PROTEST WITH IL DUCE TODAY

Italian Press Attacks on Great Britain Basis of Complaint

London, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Great Britain today made new representations to Mussolini against the continuation of attacks upon it in the Italian press, high authoritative sources announced.

Similar representations were made in regard to the alleged anti-British propaganda on the Italian radio.

This action was taken yesterday, it was disclosed in informed circles, when Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, called on Mussolini.

Sir Eric, these sources revealed, adopted a firm attitude with Il Duce and advised him that Britain cannot relax its fleet activities in the Mediterranean as long as the present situation remains unimproved.

Demands Clearing Up

Sir Eric explained further the Italian withdrawal of one division of troops from Libya was satisfactory as far as it went, the informed spokesman continued, but the fact remains that the troops still there are greatly in excess of normal strength.

Mussolini was told the British feel their position still is being constantly misrepresented in Italy.

Until there is a general "clearing up" of the whole situation, Sir Eric is reported to have told the Italian dictator, as regards the singling out of British and British interests, there will not be any relaxation of the existing fleet precautions.

Warn Against Trade

At the same time, the British government issued a warning against trade with Italy, in advance of the League of Nations meeting to set the date for enforcement of economic sanctions against the warring Fascist nation.

An official announcement, referring to Italian trade debts to Great Britain, said:

"Firms which contemplate export of further goods to Italy from this country should bear these facts in mind.

"In these circumstances, His Majesty's government cannot assume responsibility for endeavoring to secure payment for goods so shipped."

(In tone, the British warning followed a similar caution to American firms by President Roosevelt several weeks ago.)

Ahead of Sanctions

Some British circles believed the warning might cause almost complete cessation of trade between Britain and Italy, even before the economic sanctions, cutting off imports from Italy and exports of certain key products, were in force.

A statement by the Board of Trade estimated Italy's trade debt to Great Britain at more than $1,000,000 ($4,910,000). Actually, authorities estimated, a sum of more than $2,000,000 ($9,820,000); still awaited transfer to London.

Against this, there was little more than $1,000,000 to the credit here of Italian exporters, leaving a net deficit of about the same sum.

Politically, the international scene shifted back to Geneva with the foreign secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, departing to join Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs.

ROME EXCITED

Rome, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Italian students shouting "Down with England" demonstrated outside the British embassy today, as Italian authorities looked toward Germany and Austria for working agreements in Italy's hour of trial under League of Nations sanctions.

Police guards kept them under control at the embassy, but their cries were plainly heard inside.

Friendships Fading

Italian officials, seeing their World War friendships fading, expected Germany and Austria—enemies of Italy in the war—to furnish the coal, iron, steel and other products needed by Italy.

Besides his orders for economies to overcome the effects of League sanctions, Premier Mussolini called for a "census" of the mercantile marine to determine the strength of Italy's naval auxiliary in event of war.

The decree, which said some of Italy's merchant ships would be armed if necessary, ordered all ship owners and captains to be ready to give exact information concerning their craft to a mixed committee, chosen from the navy, war and communications departments.

Iowa Farmers Fined for Conspiracy

Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey fined John H. Turner, Jr., Clinton, Ia., farmer $1,000 for conspiracy to defraud the government by selling false reports on corn-hog contracts.

Lawrence Beck, Lyle George and Jack Kenyon were fined $500 each and Fred Fanning was given a 30 day jail sentence. He was paroled on his own recognizance for two years.

The five pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge yesterday before Judge Dewey.

DAILY HEALTH

SCURVY: II

Today we know that the disease "scurvy" is caused by the absence of vitamin C from the diet of its sufferer. This vitamin is abundantly present in lemons, oranges and in other citrus fruits; also in tomato, cabbage, green pepper, mango fruit, and the spice paprika. The chemical structure of the effective element of vitamin C is known and has been isolated in a crystalline form.

All this knowledge is of comparatively recent origin. One hundred years ago the disease scurvy had not yet been clearly differentiated from other diseases. Fifty years ago scurvy in infants was still commonly being confounded with rickets.

The comparative disappearance during the last century of scurvy from our population was not due to an improved understanding of the disease or to superior methods of treating it, but rather to the more widespread use of fresh foods and of those containing the anti-scorbutic vitamin.

Today frank or flagrant cases of scurvy are comparatively rare and are witnessed only under extraordinary circumstances, such as famine and war.

But there are many scientists who are convinced that our population suffers from a mild but nevertheless significant lack of vitamin C.

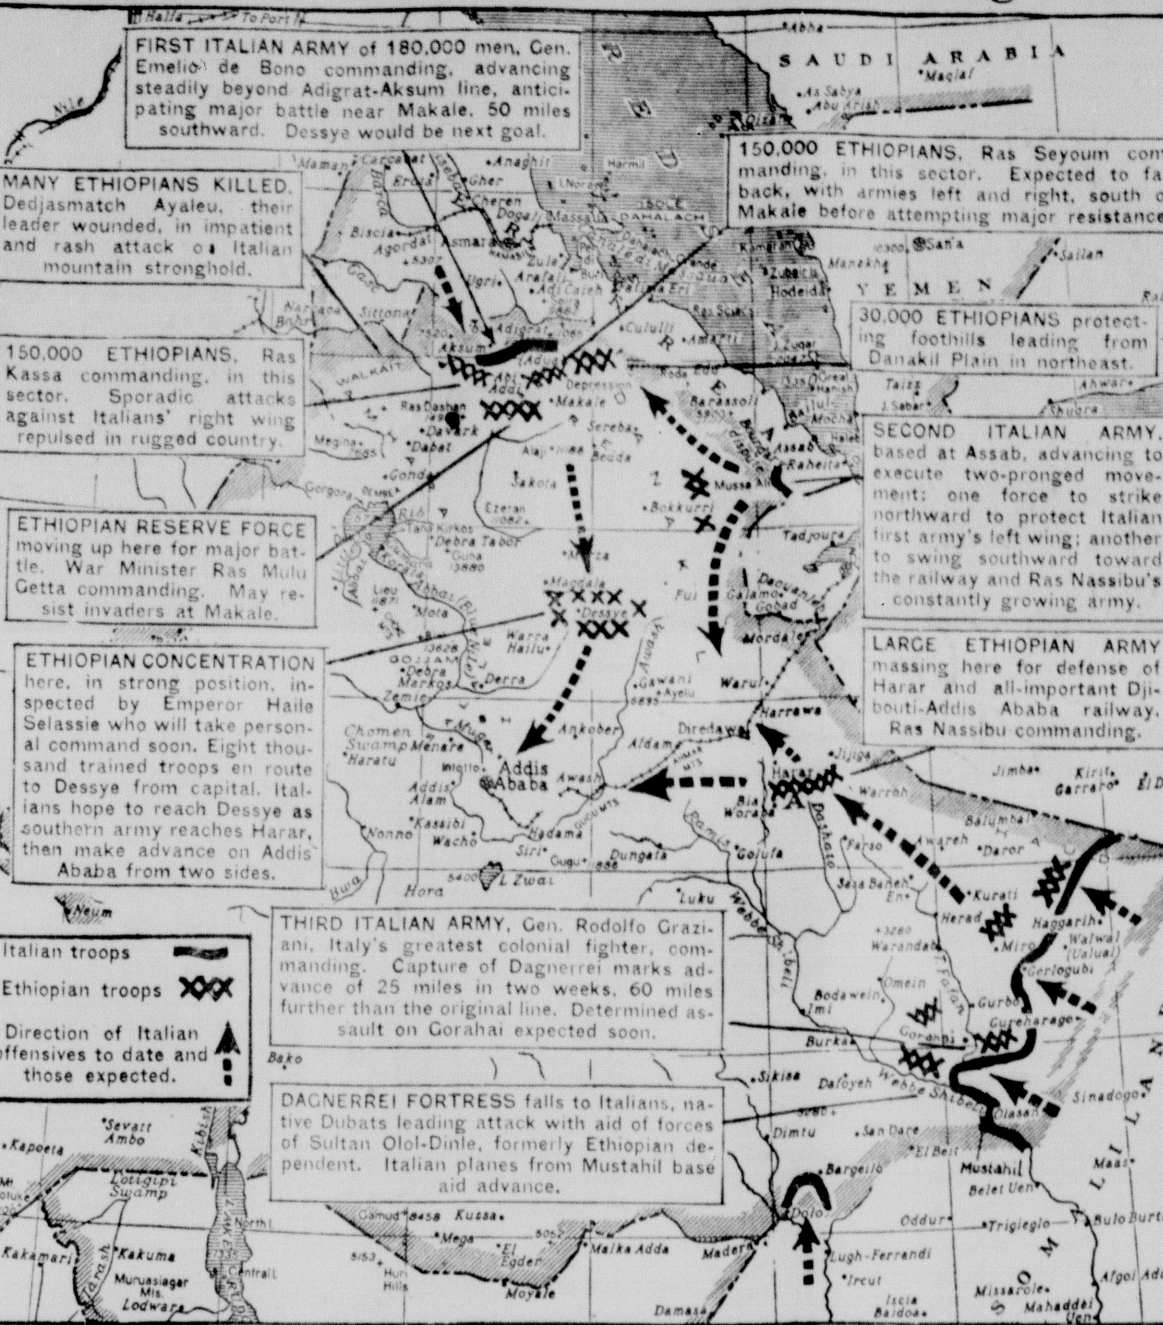

This lack is said to cause a condition called latent scurvy. Young children fed largely on boiled or pasteurized milk are particularly liable to latent scurvy. Such children are described as having ceased to thrive and to gain weight, as pale, appetiteless, and changed in temper and character. Vitamin C deficiency also has been charged by certain scientists as being responsible for the widespread prevalence of dental caries, of gingivitis (inflammation of the gums), and of pyorrhea.

In view of the fact that vitamin C is fairly abundant in many of our common foods, it should be easy to preclude the possibility of latent scurvy, both in infants and in adults.

War Scene as Italians Prime Guns for 'Big Push'

This map, picturing latest progress of Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, gives you a comprehensive picture of the scene as Mussolini's Blackshirts and their black-skinned native allies were reported about to launch a big-scale offensive on four fronts. The dotted arrows indicate how the Italians hope to penetrate Ethiopia's machine-gun studded mountains from north and south and its burning Danakil desert and plateaus from the east, the invaders then to be in position to strike toward Addis Ababa, the capital, from Dessalegn, in the northeast, and Harar, in the east.

Bambino Attempts To For The Last Time

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is going to give the major league baseball magnates one more chance to hire him as a manager.

At a gathering of the Circus Saints and Sinners yesterday, the Babe, reiterating his statement that he never would play again, said he intends to go to the major league winter meetings in December in search of an opening.

If no offer is made then, he will look outside the national game for a job, although he would rather continue in baseball.

A German critic says that the British laugh too much, and he accuses them of hiding a sense of superficiality under the cloak of humor.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUDAH TAKEN CAPTIVE

Text: 11 Kings 25:1-12

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 3.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

The Babylonian captivity is a tragic chapter in Jewish annals that occupies an important place in history. Here we are concerned chiefly with the religious and social lessons to be derived from it.

Like all great catastrophes, it is to be studied not in its immediate causes, but in the events and circumstances that led to it and that made it almost inevitable when the final crash came.

The beginning of the downfall of Judah, was in the divided nation. Palestine is not large. It would have required all the strength of that small territory incorporated under one strong rule to have established any measure of effective resistance to the warring empires of the ancient world.

The little land lay between these empires, occupying something of the same position that Belgium occupied in the World War. The strong kingdom that David established, and that Solomon brought to heights of greater glory, weakened in the dissensions and rebellions that followed Solomon's death.

When Solomon died and Rehoboam came to the throne, there was a strong demand that the burdens of the people should be lightened. Rehoboam took counsel from two classes of people, the young men, who advised him to rule with a strong hand and the older men who advised him to correct the injustices of which the people complained.

Rehoboam's weakness and his heady course in following the advice of the young men led to a rebellion in which the kingdom of David and Solomon was rent in twain, and two kingdoms, the southern Kingdom of Judah and the northern Kingdom of Israel, took their place with parallel columns of rulers.

In the history of the Kingdom of Judah we have the story of the good King Josiah. But the history of Kings and kingdoms is the record of how weak, perverse, and incompetent monarchs have come from strong and righteous predecessors. The northern Kingdom of Israel had already fallen before Assyria and now Judah, in a time of difficulty and danger, was under the rule of the weak King Zedekiah. The power of Babylon was dominant.

There might have been reasonable hope for a measure of autonomy on the part of Judah, in much the same way that Palestine later had a measure of autonomy under Roman rule, but that hope disappeared when Zedekiah rebelled.

The rebellion immediately brought serious consequences. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came with a great army and besieged Jerusalem.

Jerusalem suffered the fate that great capitals have always suffered in the hands of invading foes. The temple and palace were destroyed, and every great house in the city was laid low with fire. The people who were left were carried off to Babylon, with only the poorest left to be vine-dressers and husbandmen.

The highest teachings and the spiritual recovery of Israel are associated with this captivity. It is these teachings that future lessons will emphasize.

WPA Airport Program to Cost $17,000,000

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Commerce Department has approved a $17,000,000 airport program of the works progress administration, involving the building or improvement of 250 airports. Five hundred similar projects are under consideration.

At the WPA it was explained that the commerce department approval was merely preliminary, covering engineering phases and feasibility and desirable projects.

Before final approval, the projects must take the course of other WPA undertakings. In each instance, it was said, the government money would go only for improvement and not for long purchases.

The projects are located in 31 states. Among the large expenditures proposed were $372,935 at Moline, Ill.

It is said that it is possible to make a razor blade that would keep its edge indefinitely without stropping, but such a blade would cost approximately $25.

SALES TAX MAY BE BIG WORRY OF DEMOCRATS

Government's Edict on WPA Increases Leaders' Perplexities

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Reduction of the state sales tax to two per cent before the April primaries, a major political ambition of the Horner administration, today was considered to be contingent on an increase in the state's WPA quota.

The quota was announced yesterday as 183,500 persons, 57,000 relief clients less than was expected last week when state Treasurer John Stelle reported that a tax cut might be possible by Jan. 1.

Only one important member of the administration inner circle believed the reduction still could be made before the primaries, but his suggestion that the state let the counties worry about the surplus left by the WPA was considered so drastic that other officials said far less political harm would be done by leaving the three per cent sales tax undisturbed.

Based on Presumption
Following this line of reasoning, high administration officers pointed out that all promises to reduce the tax, including Stelle's predictions, were based on the supposition that the WPA program would take care of all unemployed relief clients.

Since the program, as indicated by the quota announcement, did not provide work for all employables, officials said the governor had a good "out" with the voters—that the federal government hadn't done all it said it would.

These comments, of course, were cold-blooded statements of the political aspects of the situation, and every official emphasized the fact that from the taxpayers' viewpoint, the situation was extremely regrettable. They said all possible pressure would be brought to bear on the Washington WPA offices in an effort to secure an increased quota.

Think Searle Bill Dead
The legislature was not in session today, but a few members who did not go home immediately after the adjournment yesterday until next Tuesday, said that if the Searle bill in the house repealing the entire tax was not dead before, it certainly was now.

They also expressed the opinion that Searle's hope of using his repeal bill as a wedge with which to force through a tax reduction measure was made extremely forlorn by the WPA-relief developments.

Here's the Motoring Giraffe

Passing cars on hills has always constituted an invitation to disaster, but it seems not to have occurred to many drivers, from the way the practice is indulged in by some motorists.

The person who passes another car on a hill, and especially near the top, is really doing what the fellow in the above illustration is trying to do. He's so eager to get on his way that his neck is stretched away out. Some people call this type of driver the "peeping tom of the highway." A driver who is very much like the person illustrated is the one who swings around traffic on curves when it's impossible to tell what is coming from the opposite direction.

Last year, according to statistics of the Travelers Insurance Company, nearly 10,000 automobile accidents were caused by drivers who passed on hills and curves. There were nearly 500 persons killed and more than 10,000 who were injured. Drivers who are in the habit of passing improperly should remember that "it is all very well to enjoy the sights, but not to be one."

The GOLDEN FEATHER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her answer when BOBBY WALKER, automobile salesman, asks her to marry him.

At the Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS whose business connection is vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MR. and MRS. LEWIS and Bobby arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis. He sells them to Donald Montague. Lewis buys a car.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent, is trying to locate WINGY LEWIS, bank robber. He learns about the bond transaction and questions Bobby. The bonds were stolen. Larry believes the car Lewis bought was armored. Bobby undertakes to find out.

Now go on with the story

THE little valley opened about 100 yards from Pulaski road. The driveway led downward, swinging sharply to the left and then to the right again in a barren region that seemed almost desert-like. Once out of sight of the main highway, Bobby could see nothing but the bleak, grimy hills.

The driveway kept on going down hill; and at last it made one more turn and came out in a queer little hollow. At the other side, a few rods away, there was a precipitous bank, crowned by a long row of gone-to-seed dwellings; on the right hand end, on the left a similar bank hemmed the place in. And in the center of the hollow there was a long, ancient building of red brick with a time-stained roof of galvanized iron.

"A brick yard!" said Bobby suddenly. That, obviously, was what the place had been—once.

It was perfectly clear that no bricks had been made here for many a year. But it was equally clear that the central building was still in use. A freshly painted black chimney rose from the farther end, with a wisp of smoke threading its way up toward the evening sky; and surrounding the whole thing there was a new, business-like fence of woven wire, seven feet high, with barbed-wire strands on the top and a substantial gate at the point where the driveway entered. Inside this gate three or four cars were parked.

AS Bobby drove up, a man got up from a seat beside the gate. He let himself out and strolled up to Bobby's car with insolent slowness, his thumbs hooked in his belt. He wore no coat, and his vest was unbuttoned; and beneath his left armpit the black butt of a revolver, tucked away in a shoulder holster, was plainly visible.

"What do you want?" he asked. Bobby did his best to look confused and lost.

"Why," he said, "I was looking for a short-cut over to—Grand River boulevard. I thought this was it."

"Well, it isn't," said the man. "Oh," said Bobby. He looked at the building with what he hoped was just the right degree of innocent interest. "What is this?"

"Never mind what it is," said the man. "This is a private road, and you're trespassing. Scram!" He casually moved his vest back, to give Bobby a better look at the revolver. Bobby grinned suddenly. "Okay, partner," he said. He backed up and swung around, while the guard stood watching him with sullen suspicion. Then, casting a last glance at the erstwhile brick plant, Bobby drove up the roadway to Pulaski road again.

On his way back to town Bobby was the prey of a pleasurable excitement, not unmixed with an even more pleasurable feeling of self-congratulation. He had found something queer, that was certain; something amazingly queer, tucked away in that inaccessible hollow surrounded by an unimpeachable fence and guarded by a surly watchman with a revolver. Was this the place Mark Hopkins and MacFarlane had visited the afternoon before?

The reddish dust on Hopkins' car testified that they had gone along Pulaski road back of the steel mill; and if they had done that, this queer place back in the hollow seemed to be the only conceivable goal.

"I've got something!" Bobby told himself jubilantly. "I'll bet a dollar to an old doughnut that's the place Larry Glenn's looking for. Had I better tell Larry about it right off—or should I try to find out something more before I do? Gosh, I wish I could get just a little more dope before I tell him. Maybe I can. Waiting another week won't hurt anything. . . . Anyhow, I'll see him tonight."

He returned the car to the rental agency, walked to a drug store, entered a telephone booth, and rang Larry's office in the federal building. Larry was still in. He greeted Bob warmly and invited him to have dinner with him.

THEY ate at a pleasant little restaurant near the federal building, and there Bobby guiltfully told Larry just enough about Mark Hopkins' mysterious trip to what the federal man's interest. He did not tell him of having found the peculiar building in the hollow off Pulaski road, but he told him enough to convince him that he was on the trail of something.

"That's fine," said Larry. "As soon as you get anything definite, let me know so I can get some of our men working on it. You see, Bobby—all I want from you is just a hint; no more than that. We can run it down. If our suspicions are correct, running the thing down may be rather dangerous, and I don't want you to run any risk of getting hurt. Will you promise me to call me as soon as you have anything we can work on?"

He looked at Bobby with his keen gray eyes and Bobby solemnly promised. He felt a trifle guilty about concealing his knowledge; but he was determined to vindicate himself in the elder man's estimation for his lamentable error in stolen bonds; and, besides, he rather enjoyed the thrill of amateur detective work.

Their food was served and they began to eat. Larry carved off a bite of steak and ate it thoughtfully; then he laid down his fork and knife and leaned forward confidentially.

"I'm going to tell you something that you're not really entitled to know about," he said. "I wouldn't do it, except that it concerns Jean."

Bobby looked up, startled. "We raided the apartment your friends the Lewises were occupying," said Larry. "They'd got out before we got there, but we did get plenty of fingerprints. Today I got the identifications back from Washington, and I want you to know about them.

"To begin with, your friend Lewis—the man who so kindly put that bond deal in your way—is a known criminal. He used to be a confidence man, out west—specialized in selling bogus oil and gold stocks, and did time in Colorado for swindling, some six or eight years ago. A year or so ago he fell in with the Red Jackson gang of bank robbers. Since then he's been one of Jackson's right-hand men. And this may interest you—it seems he specializes in disposing of the 'hot' securities that the gang picks up in its travels."

LARRY went on. "But that isn't the most important part. It's this chap Harkins I wanted to tell you about, because he's been seeing more or less of Jean, I guess.

"We got his prints out of that apartment, too, and sent them in. And it develops that he's a gunman from Oklahoma. He did a term in the Oklahoma pen for robbery a few years ago. Came out on parole last summer, and is believed to have joined the Jackson gang shortly thereafter. His association with Lewis, of course, proves that he joined it."

"So that's who he is. You can see, now, can't you, why I hate to see Jean even listing him among her casual acquaintances? Fortunately, he's no more than that. But even so—"

"I'm not so sure," said Bobby miserably. "The other night, after you left her place, she and I—we had a kind of a quarrel about him. She said she'd been seeing quite a lot of him. I'm—" he paused, and grew red. "I'm afraid she's getting sort of infatuated with him."

Larry looked worried. "I'll tell her," he said grimly. "It'd be terrible if she let herself get entangled with a man like that. When's she coming back to Dover?"

"Next week, I guess," said Bobby. "Well, there's a breathing space," said Larry. "It's a cinch Harkins won't be showing up around here for a while yet. That outfit knows by this time that Dover is hot."

He shook his head thoughtfully. "I ought to have warned her as soon as I found out she'd been a witness for me," he mused. Bobby looked up anxiously. "How was that?" he asked. Larry told him how Jean had gone to the police station to give Sandy an alibi for the Friday afternoon of the payroll holdup.

Bobby wrinkled his forehead in a desperate effort to remember. "Hey, wait!" he said. "Something's screwy somewhere. If she got the afternoon off the day I went in to see Montague . . . Larry, that was a Thursday, not a Friday!"

"Thursday! Are you dead certain?"

"Of course I am."

Larry's lips tightened. "We've got to let Jean know who this man is, the moment she gets back," he said grimly. "We can't let her go on drifting toward trouble any longer—"

But fate was against him. For when Jean returned, Larry Glenn was to be far away—and she refused even to listen to Bobby's attempt to warn her.

PAW PAW NEWS

Paw Paw—An all day meeting of the Lee County Federation of Women's clubs was held Wednesday and the Twentieth Century club, as hostess, had arranged for the sessions and entertainment of the various organizations. The meeting was held in the Presbyterian church and was called to order at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Herbert Parker of Amboy, county president, in charge. Invocation was pronounced by Rev. Fitch. Mrs. Orla Nangle presided at the piano as all sang America. Mrs. W. T. Holladay conducted the opening of the session, and business was discussed. Miss Esther Barton of Dixon gave an educational talk on the subject, "Mexico's New Schools." Miss Barton is a favorite with Paw Paw people as she has appeared here on numerous occasions. She talks very informally and is an extensive traveler and is able to bring to her audience true and vivid pictures of the people and customs of the countries visited. Her talk on Mexico was extremely interesting. Miss Ann Polkowski of the staff of the Dixon state hospital, presented "New Trends in Psychology." Her observations were instructive and many different phases of the handling of the class of the state institution were told. The music for the forenoon session was a vocal solo by Mr. Nangle and a duet by Rosemary Nangle and Arlyne Adams. Both numbers were enthusiastically applauded. After a very entertaining reading by Mrs. H. C. Barton, adjournment for lunch was called. The ladies of the Presbyterian Mite society served a lovely and delicious luncheon in the church parlors. Autumn decorations were used with yellow candles and formed a pretty setting for the service. The afternoon session was called about 1:30 by Mrs. Parker and the piano duet by Mrs. Tabor and Mrs. Nangle was the opening number. The Girls' glee club with Miss Ellen Work directing, gave three catchy numbers showing the proficiency of Miss Work in being able to present finished work in the short time that school has been in progress. The piano solo by Miss Volma Mitten was also enjoyed. Mrs. Vernon Smith, president of the Ashton club read the preamble to the constitution of the United States which was followed by a roll call of the clubs and each president responded with a list of the activities and proposed projects of the year. Many of the state and district chairmen of the various departments of the Federation made short and pointed talks on their work. Mrs. Larson of Shabbona, chairman of law and observance; Mrs. Starck, also of Savanna; Mrs. Dee Thompson of Compton and the district president, Mrs. O. Rahn gave interesting view points of their special line of study. Rev. Fitch gave a book review, "Christ's Alternative for Communism" and impressed his listeners with the seriousness of the situation which lies before and the crisis which seems imminent. Superintendent H. C. Barton closed the program with an entertaining talk.

Friends have learned that on Sunday, October 20, Prof. Rufus Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California was in a train wreck on the preceding Saturday. A south bound

Luxurious, Rear-Drive Auto Invades Country

Before long you may see a shub-nosed bullet-shaped automobile scoot by, and that will introduce you to the radically different type of motor car that its designer predicts will be adopted by the industry, within five years. It is the Scarab, a rear-drive car, built by William B. Stout of Detroit. Side view, at top, shows that it has no running boards and not even door handles to break the smooth lines of the exterior. Electric, key-controlled switch buttons open the doors. The engine in the rear is separated from the body by a double sound-proof bulkhead, the entire mechanism one compact unit. Seats, as shown at lower left, can be moved about, and a table set in back. Lower right photo shows rear view of the car, which will be limited to 100 in production and will sell for $5000.

Southern Pacific passenger train struck a truck near Glendale and Dr. Kleinsmid was one of three injured when two coaches and the engine were derailed. The truck driver escaped uninjured. A few weeks ago he spoke over a nationwide radio net at the Bankers institute graduation exercises and many hereabouts gathered around their radio an enjoyed his talk. His numerous Paw Paw friends hope for a speedy recovery.

The Methodist Ladies Aid met at the church Wednesday afternoon and discussed several business matters, including the arrangements for the animal bazaar, Mrs. Dwight Browning sang and Miss Wynette Worsley gave a violin solo for the entertainment.

The third in the series of afternoon card parties given by the Builders class of the Methodist church held at the Arthur Harper home Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Carl Kindelberger and Mrs. Byron Rosebrans won high score in bridge and Mrs. C. G. Pool of Compton and Mrs. Della Smith were high in 500. Refreshments were served at the close of the games.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sheke of Monmouth and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sheke and two children of Seaton, Ill., were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rosenkrans over the week end. Sunday the Rosenkrans family with their guests and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sanford, son Dale and the Albert Taylor family formed a merry party that enjoyed the day at the Brookfield zoo.

A Sermon for Everyone

A recent funeral sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson of the Fourth Presbyterian church in Chicago.

The services were for a man of national reputation who met death in an auto accident.

Gov. Horner, Judge John P. McGorty, John T. McCutcheon, officials of courts, business men, advertising men, and newspaper publishers were among the audience.

Rev. Anderson played the auto massacre—and said in part: "I don't know how this problem can be solved." A public official calls on the public to stop this senseless killing, or a newspaper takes up the attack. But nothing can be done until the tragic waste of it all gets into the consciousness of the American citizen.

Problem of Responsibility "Sooner or later the automobile industry must face the problem. How fast a car can build and turn over to the average citizen? It is their responsibility, and they will be forced to recognize it.

"Government also will have to take responsibility for it. The traffic laws of this city are laughed at. The traffic laws of the state of Illinois are laughed at. In surrounding states, drivers do not dare take their cars out after Jan. 1 without licenses. Here their chief

600 YEARS To BUILD

THROUGH more than six centuries, the mighty cathedral of Cologne, in Germany, was under construction until today it appeals to visitors not so much for its modernized outer architecture as for its more imposing and graceful interior. Begun in the 12th century, pausing in its growth through various conflicts, and even falling into disrepair for a while, the cathedral finally was completed in 1880 by Emperor William I.

Early in its history, Cologne Cathedral was repository for the skulls of the Three Wise Men of the East who had come to Bethlehem to do homage to the newborn Jesus. Hosts of pilgrims came here to view these relics in the Chapel of the Magi. But the only proof of these bones today is the gold reliquary which is kept in the treasury of the church.

This great cathedral is illustrated on a 1933 stamp of Germany, shown here, and again on two later issues picturing the city.
